GERMANS ARE ON OFFENSIVE

Heavy Fighting Occurs in Argonne and Vosges.

POPE EXPRESSES HIS SORROW

Pontiff Deplores Fact That There Is Nothing to Presage an Early End to the War and Declares That the Holy See Must Remain Perfectly Impartial.

London, Jan. 23.—Probably the heaviest fighting that is now taking place anywhere in the numerous war zones is on the western line, in the Argonne and the Vosges. In both these districts Paris reports that the fighting still continues.

These feats at arms are being carried out in the vicinity of a field work called Merle Therese, near Fontaine Madame, in the Argonne, and in the region of the Hartmann-Wellerkopf hills in the Vosges. In the latter the Germans were on the offensive, according to Paris.

Pope Benedict in an allocution, at a consistory, expressed sorrow that there was nothing to presage an early end of the war. He had done everything to terminate the struggle that the limitations of his apostolic office permitted, he said. He declared the Holy See must remain perfectly impartial in the controversy.

CANNOT MOVE MANY TROOPS

Commanders Waiting for Ground to Become Hard.

London, Jan. 23.—Except in Alsace, where a stubborn battle has been in progress for several days, but which receives only the briefest mention in the official reports, fighting has been comparatively light on both eastern and western fronts.

The siege continues and, according to the opinion of the military experts, it will go on until the ground hardens sufficiently to enable one of the commanders to move a large body of men with a speed that will permit him to surprise his opponent and enable him to find a weak spot in the line.

In the east, along the old front from the lower Vistula to Galicia and in the Carpathians, the two armies remain in about the same positions as they were two months ago, all efforts by the Germans to break down the Russian resistance seemingly having failed and the Russian attempt to drive the Austro-German forces back to Cracow having met a similar fate.

FEARS WAR WITH AMERICA

London Paper Expresses Anxiety Regarding Danger.

London, Jan. 23.—The Spectator, in a leading editorial article entitled "A Great Danger," expresses "anxiety and alarm at the way in which we are drifting toward the danger of a collision with the United States."

This article speaks in praise of the good feeling toward Great Britain of many prominent Americans, but it re-echoes deeply the "Indifference, indeed callousness, toward Great Britain and her case shown by the government of the United States."

Comparing the present situation with that which existed at the time of the Sillidell and Mason arrests (1861) the Spectator says that British statesmen were as much at fault then as American statesmen are now, but happily the queen and Lincoln prevented war.

AIRSHIPS PROCEED INLAND

German Craft Are Again Reported Invading England.

Cromer, Eng., Jan. 23.—Zeppelin airships of a number unknown passed over Cromer from the sea and proceeded inland in a southeasterly direction.

The noise of the engines of the airships was first heard by the coast guardsmen and then by the military on patrol duty.

The electric light circuits were cut immediately and troops proceeded through the town extinguishing all other lights.

All the evidence tends to show that more than one aircraft passed over the town. As they proceeded they flashed searchlights.

Confession Clears Convict.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—An alleged confession, said to have been made by George W. Moran, a prisoner in the penitentiary at Walla Walla, Wash., that he and a companion had killed Elsie Cochran in Danville, Ill., on the night of Oct. 27, 1910, was the basis of an appeal for pardon made to Governor Dunne by Fred Garner of Danville, who is serving a twenty-year sentence in the Chester penitentiary for the murder of the Cochran woman.

SIR FREDERICK TREVES.

Asserts Inoculation Is Checking Typhoid Fever.

London, Jan. 23.—Sir Frederick Treves, the widely known surgeon, in speaking before the Royal Society of Arts, said the results achieved by inoculation against typhoid fever in the British expeditionary force have been "positively astounding."

He said since the war began there had been only 212 cases, of which 173 were persons who had not been inoculated. Not a single death from typhoid had occurred among those inoculated.

FOOD FOR GERMANS PASSES Foe's GUARD

Steamer Wilhelmina Leaves New York Harbor.

Fire Island, L. I., Jan. 23.—Under the nose of a British cruiser watching at the gateway of New York the American steamship Wilhelmina, with her hold filled with food supplies for Germany, passed out to sea unmoistened and laid her course for Hamburg. The Wilhelmina dropped down the Ambrose channel at nightfall. Six miles to the eastward of Ambrose lightship she sighted a two-funneled British cruiser just under steerage way and with all lights out. Smoke was pouring from her stacks.

The Wilhelmina kept on her course. With all lights burning the merchantman steamed past the warship, which did not even speak to the American ship. An hour later the Wilhelmina, driving through a thick snow storm, was lost to view.

ALABAMA IS DRY ON JULY 1

Prohibition Bills, Vetted by Governor, Repassed by Legislature.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 23.—Alabama will become a prohibition state July 1, under two related measures which became a law without executive approval.

Within a few hours after Governor Henderson had vetoed the bills and asked that the prohibition question be submitted at a special election both houses voted down his proposal and repassed the bills by overwhelming majorities.

The prohibition measures re-enact the prohibition law repealed in 1911, after it had been in force in two years.

BRYAN SEEKS INFORMATION

Secretary Asks About Labor Riots at Tampico.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Secretary Bryan telegraphed Thomas H. Bevan, American vice consul at Tampico, for more details as to the labor riots there and asking how many unemployed American citizens are in the vicinity and how many would be willing to return to the United States if the government should provide passage for them.

It is said there are 1,200 men out of work around Tampico.

SLIVER IN FINGER KILLS

Woman Becomes Insane at Sight of Blood From Injury.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 23.—Miss Mary Tuor, housekeeper for her brother, Matt Tuor, a Lake county farmer, became violently insane and died as the result of driving a sliver under the nail of one of her fingers. The young woman was scrubbing the floor. The injury caused the finger to bleed freely. The sight of blood drove the young woman into a frenzy. She became frantic with terror and went insane.

She was taken before the county board of insanity and ordered sent to the state hospital for the insane at Yankton.

Before she could be taken away she became ill and died.

GERMAN AIRMEN ATTACK DUNKIRK

Special to The Dispatch:—

Paris, Jan. 23.—A semi-official note says that a number of German aviators attacked Dunkirk, throwing eighty bombs. The victims number twenty, six being killed. A large warehouse was set afire by one of the bombs. The French and English aviators who chased the German aeroplanes brought down one and captured its occupants.

LIQUOR PERMIT FOR CHURCH

Provides Intoxicants May Be Used for Sacramental Purposes.

Denver, Jan. 23.—Annual liquor licenses of $100 for druggists and $5 for religious organizations may be required in Colorado after Jan. 1, 1916.

These are among the provisions contained in the administration bill for the enforcement of the statewide prohibition constitutional amendment adopted at the election in November.

Under the terms of the measure, use of intoxicating liquor will be permitted only for medicinal and sacramental purposes.

WOLVES INFEST WAR ZONE

Plight of Residents of Carpathians Rendered Dangerous.

London, Jan. 23.—A dispatch from Kiev, Russia, to Reuter's Telegram company says:

"Hiding from the Austrians, who are retreating from Bukovina, the population of the Carpathians have left their homes and are living in pits dug deep in the snow, where many are perishing from exposure and starvation."

"Their plight is rendered more dangerous by the hungry wolves that are hunting them."

TWO HELD FOR SMUGGLING

Engineers on Liner Canopic Arrested in Boston.

Boston, Jan. 23.—George E. Metcalf, chief engineer of the White Star liner Canopic, and Alfred Dickerman, fourth assistant engineer, were arrested on a smuggling charge after the arrival of the steamer Naples.

They are alleged to have been concerned in traffic in violin strings, of which their brother-in-law, C. A. Kiseinger of Naples, is a manufacturer.

Each of the officers was released on bail.

CRIME SCANDAL HITS EAST

Collusion Between Police and Crooks in New York and Boston.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Ramifications of the scandal involving the police with members of criminal classes have been found in Buffalo and Philadelphia as well as Boston and New York, according to MacLay Hoyne, state's attorney, who returned from the East. The prosecutor said indictments would be voted here soon as a result of the corroborative evidence which has been gathered.

MORE MEN NEEDED AT FRONT

Acting Premier of Australia Issues Appeal for Recruits.

London, Jan. 23.—William Morris Hughes, the acting premier of Australia, has issued an appeal for more recruits, says the Melbourne correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company. In his appeal Mr. Hughes says: "Every available man is needed for the front as soon as possible. The German power is not yet shattered and remains resolute with its strength unimpaired."

Hungarian Gypsies.

Some 200,000 gypsies wander about Hungary and are regarded a dangerous community. So notorious are their thieving propensities that they are not allowed inside the towns, while the villages tolerate them for only two days.

Pure Logic.

Liberty commands the highest price of all known things. Its price is so high that nobody can pay it.

Proof. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. Eternal vigilance is to be ever on the job. To be ever on the job is to have no leisure or vacation. To have no leisure or vacation is to be a slave. To be a slave is not to have liberty. Therefore in order to be free we must enslave ourselves, which is absurd. Q. E. D.—Judge.

Quill Pens.

The quill pen is not quite extinct in London. The legal profession, which is very conservative, clings to it tenaciously, and none of the courts would be completely equipped without a plentiful supply of good quill pens. Have you noticed what an indispensable accessory the quill is to counsel, whether in ostentatiously taking a note, making a speech or in helping to point a warning finger at a hostile witness?—London Standard.

SHOW EUROPE CORN'S VALUE

This Is Plan of Baltimore Man to Avoid Wheat Shortage.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—An invasion of Europe by an army of American cooks to introduce corn bread, corn cakes and fried mush to a peasantry now familiar with black wheat bread is the plan advocated here at the sixth annual meeting of the council of grain exchanges as a means of avoiding a wheat shortage in the United States.

WILSON WILL DEFEND SHIP PURCHASE BILL.

Washington, Jan. 23.—President Wilson will make two speeches and Secretary Redfield will make one address within the next two weeks in defense of the ship purchase bill. It was announced. The president does not admit the possibility of the bill failing to pass at this session.

THIRTY-TWO DEPUTIES HELD

Men Alleged to Have Shot Roosevelt, N. J., Strikers in Jail.

Roosevelt, N. J., Jan. 23.—Thirty-two sheriff's deputies, charged with murder, are held without bail in the Middlesex county jail at New Brunswick charged with being responsible for the shooting of strikers here Tuesday.

Two of the idle employees of the American Agricultural Chemical company have died of their wounds and nearly a score were hurt in the clash.

Predatory Animals.

The multiplication of predatory animals in the west has been the cause of attempted legislation by different members from those states who have tried to secure bounties for the destruction of such animals. The men employed by the forest service have killed about 9,000 of these animals during the past two years. More than three fourths of them were coyotes.

SAMUEL GOMPERS GIVES EVIDENCE

Appears Before Industrial Relations Commission.

RAPS FRANKING PRIVILEGE

President of the American Federation of Labor Attacks Rockefeller Foundation as Lacking Confidence of Employers and Employees and Says It Is Perpetrating a Fraud on the Government.

New York, Jan. 23.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, does not believe any conclusion the Rockefeller foundation might reach as to industrial conditions would carry conviction to the workers of the country or greatly influence the employers of labor. He so testified before the United States commission on industrial relations.

"The efforts of the Rockefeller foundation to undertake to be an all pervading machinery for the molding of the minds of the people in their constant human struggle," said Mr. Gompers, "should be curbed by law or regulation. I understood the foundation used its influence to get its representative in the list of officials of the federal government and that this gave the foundation the right to the franking privilege."

"This, I think, was a fraud upon the government, a violation of the principles of education and an imposition upon the people of this country. I do not think the people are ready to surrender their rights, especially to a foundation which has such a history behind it of the means by which the money was first made and later accumulated."

Urges Immigration Restriction.

Mr. Gompers urged that immigration be restricted as a means of protecting the workers of the United States. He said he believed the great corporations and the steamship companies were working together, under the pretense of liberalism, to combat any legislation designed to restrict immigration.

As for industrial unrest the witness thought that wholesale unrest and healthy discontent had done much to better the conditions of the workingmen.

While he was testifying Mr. Gompers was indirectly questioned by Walter Drew, attorney for the Merchants and Manufacturers' association and counsel for the National Erectors' association at the time of the McNamara dynamite case. Mr. Gompers branded as an intentional insult a question by Mr. Drew as to the use of dynamite and violence in labor disputes. Later Mr. Drew persisted in interrupting the witness and Chairman Walsh threatened to ask him to retire from the hearing unless he desisted.

The morning session was taken up by George W. Perkins and Henry Ford of Detroit. Mr. Perkins declared that what business depression, if any, existed, could be blamed directly upon the new tariff law.

Mr. Ford said he would guarantee to take every convict in Sing Sing prison and make a man of him by giving him a decent living wage and comfortable surroundings. Philanthropic foundations, he thought, were inadequate.

COLORADO ARMS BAR LIFTED

Governor Carlson's Action Permits Shipment of Guns.

Denver, Jan. 23.—Governor George A. Carlson raised the embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition into the districts affected by the recent strike of coal miners.

The prohibition of arms shipments was ordered by the state authorities shortly after the strike was called in September, 1912.

THREE HUNDRED EARN COLLEGE EDUCATION.

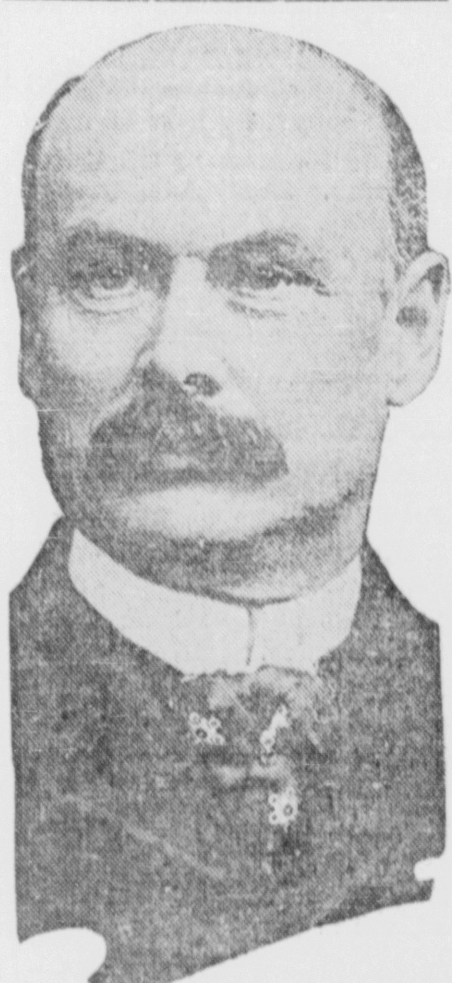

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 23.—Three hundred students of the University of Illinois are totally dependent on what they earn here to carry them through the university. Many others augment scanty incomes by odd work. The students earn a total of $117,000 during their last nine school months, according to statistics made public.

Wilson in White House Gallery.

Washington, Jan. 22.—A portrait of President Wilson, painted by Seymour Thomas of New York and Paris, was hung in the White House gallery with portraits of other presidents.

ELBERT H. GARY.

Asks President Wilson to Assist the Jobless.

ASKS WILSON HELP JOBLESS

Elbert H. Gary Writes to President and Governor Whitman.

New York, Jan. 23.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation and head of the mayor's committee on unemployment, made public letters he had sent to President Wilson and Governor Whitman, requesting their aid in relieving conditions.

In the letter to the president Gary explained that steps had been taken to expedite all contemplated public work, where it was financially and practically possible.

RED CROSS DETAILS ACTIVITIES ABROAD

Americans Are in Charge of Eight Hospitals.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Humanitarian activities of the American Red Cross in the European war are being carried by a personnel of 195 persons—45 surgeons and 150 nurses—eight hospitals in the various belligerent countries are under charge of these Americans and vast quantities of medical supplies and other material have gone forward to mitigate the suffering of the sick and wounded.

An official summary of the society's work in connection with the war from Aug. 1, 1914, to Jan. 8, 1915, was issued. As to finances $1,188,112 has been contributed and $760,510 expended for these activities.

A balance of $427,602 remains, of which $150,000 must be expended to maintain the present personnel in Europe six months and to provide for their return.

Further remittances probably will be made in aid of the hospitals where American surgeons and nurses are in charge and, as medical and hospital supplies become exhausted, the demand will increase and further funds will be needed.

The Red Cross officials emphasize the fact that no administrative expenses are paid from the relief fund.

OUR SEA POWER IS WANING

Year Book Puts Nation in Fourth Place.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The United States will drop from third to fourth place among the world's sea powers with the completion of all ships under construction up to July 1, 1914, according to the calculations in the navy year book, issued by the senate naval committee. France will move from fourth to third place, according to the official table.

With the outbreak of the European war information as to the naval programs of the belligerents is no longer available and the book contains only a list of the vessels lost in action during the war up to Jan. 1, 1915, to supplement figures for construction prior to last July.

Turkey Votes War Loan.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—The Turkish parliament has voted mobilization credits of $190,000,000, says the Constantinople correspondent of the Tageblatt, and has authorized the government immediately to float $25,000,000 of this amount at 6 per cent.

HOUSE PASSES ARMY MEASURE

Approves Bill Carrying $101,000,000 Without Roll Call.

PROVIDES FOR AEROPLANES

Twenty-five Flying Machines Are Allowed and Also an Armored Motor Car—Amendment Adopted Prohibits Use of "Speeding Up" Devices in Army Arsenals and Shops.

Washington, Jan. 23.—After two days of debate on the general state of the national defenses the house passed without a roll call the army appropriation bill, carrying $101,000,000. The last roll call on a motion by Representative Gardner, Massachusetts, to recommit the bill with instructions to report back an amendment carrying $1,000,000 for aviation, was defeated, 253 to 34.

An amendment offered by Representative Deitrick, Massachusetts, and adopted practically without opposition, would prohibit the use of stop watches and other "speeding up" devices in connection with so called scientific management systems in army arsenals and shops. Representatives of union labor have been fighting for this prohibition for several years.

The bill, which carries funds for the maintenance of all branches of the army during the coming fiscal year, includes $300,000 for the purchase of twenty-five aeroplanes and $50,000 for an armored motor car.

BIG GOLD POOL DISSOLVED

Committee Votes to Return Unused Funds to Subscribers.

New York, Jan. 23.—In taking formal action to dissolve the $100,000,000 gold pool, organized after the beginning of the war to safeguard exchanges, the committee voted to return promptly to the subscribers the unused portion of the funds. Subscribers will be released from payment of the balance of their pledges.

The improvement in the financial situation, it was stated, made the continuance of the pool no longer necessary. Of the $100,000,000 pledged 25 per cent was paid in.

ACQUIT WOMAN OF MURDER

She Had Married Brother of Alleged Victim.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—Mrs. Mary Kozicki, who married the brother of her dead husband, consequently preventing his testifying against her, was acquitted of murdering her husband.

She was the nineteenth woman acquitted of murder in Cook county within the last few years, the consecutive record of acquittals being broken recently when Mrs. Pasqualina Forte and her daughter Anna were convicted of manslaughter.

Mrs. Kozicki's plea was self-defense.

LIVES SAVED BY COOLNESS

Passengers and Crew of Burned Steamer Escape.

Baltimore, Jan. 23.—Coolness on the part of the crew and passengers on board the ship helped to prevent loss of life when the Chesapeake bay steamer Maryland, carrying 108 persons, was burned almost to the water's edge off Mountain point, at the mouth of the Magothy river.

After an investigation A. H. Seth, general manager of the steamship company, announced that he felt sure that everyone on board had been saved.

JOBLESS DINE WITH MAYOR

Des Moines Executive Feeds Forty Idle Men.

Des Moines, Jan. 23.—Forty jobless men called on Mayor James R. Hanna and asked for work. The mayor invited them into the council chamber of the city hall, heard their tales and then promised to find them jobs. Several of the men said they had had nothing to eat for two days and asked the mayor what he would do under such circumstances.

"Why, I believe I would fill up my stomach, if possible," said the mayor. "Let's go eat."

Whereupon the mayor led the jobless men to a nearby restaurant, where dinner was served.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

At the Grand

"Human Hearts" tonight will provide a rare treat for the photo play public, no matter whether portions of the public are familiar with it or not. It has action, grip and pathos, combined with some splendid realism. The scenes showing Mr. Baggot, as the hero, Tom Logan, in the state prison doing time are necessarily correct and impressive; they were actually taken within the walls of a state prison, and show the hundreds of convicts and the life they lead. And the mission of Tom's mother, made blind through sorrow over her son's misfortune, to the governor to plead for a pardon for her son gives us some scenes of pathos that pull the heartstrings taut with emotion.

For Sunday "The Opened Shutters" by Clara Louise Burnham, is simply an elaboration of the old theme, "As a Man Thinketh." But in the elaboration of the theme Mrs. Burnham has developed a story of beauty and charm, with remarkable appeal.

Doctors and medical men the world over are coming to recognize more and more the value of "right thinking," on the patient's part, where a cure is attempted. True, there are those who hold that the mind has no power over the body—that it is purely a psychological problem which has no bearing on the breaking or making of a man or woman. What do you think of the matter? How much stock do you take in the New Testament's declaration that "as a man thinketh, so is he?"

At the Columbia

One of the largest houses that ever attended the Columbia saw the second night of "The Prince of India" and thoroughly enjoyed every moment of the play. This play has been booked for a return engagement the latter part of this month as hundreds were unable to get in and could not wait owing to the extremely cold weather. Another bumper house will undoubtedly see the sensation tonight known as "The King of Beggars." The Columbia occasionally books these sensations and always advertises them as such so that everyone knows exactly the character of the play presented. On Sunday a very interesting play holds the boards entitled "Should a Woman Tell?" Everyone should see this play as it plays but a one day engagement at the Columbia.

At the Empress

"The Education of Mr. Pipp," the feature last night at the Empress, sustained the quality of the feature program of that theatre. The bill for today consists of a two part photo play "A Political Feud," a Keystone comedy, "The Plumber," a drama "At Dawn" and "Croony Melody," the latest popular song hit in motion pictures and sung by William Vernon. This gives the patrons of the Empress theatre a five reel show.

On Sunday the management will give another five reel show, "Barrier of Flames," a two part photo play featuring Shep, the greatest dog in the world, "Cupid and a Dreis Coat," a comedy, "Bippo," a drama and "Croony Melody" in motion pictures.

SPEAKER SAYS CHRIST IS TRUTH

George Shaw Cook, C. S. B., Lectures on Christian Science at the Park Opera House

INTRODUCED BY E. W. THOMAS

Lecturer Calls Jesus the Exemplar of Spiritual Christ, Counsels Praying Without Ceasing

Park opera house was comfortably filled Friday evening on the occasion of a lecture on Christian Science, entitled "God is Good," delivered by George Shaw Cook, C. S. B., of Chicago.

The lecturer was introduced by E. W. Thomas, of Brainerd, who said:

Ladies and gentlemen: A thought is the basis of every act, and the act is good or bad as the thought prompting it is good or bad. The thought also has its effect upon the thinker. Solomon, the great Israelite philosopher in his book of Proverbs, speaking of a man says: 'As he thinketh in his heart, so is he.' The character of the thought is the true expression of the character of the thinker. If the thoughts are all good, it follows the thinker must be good.

Shakespeare writes: 'There is nothing, either good or bad, but thinking make it so.' Then as far as anything is concerned its goodness or badness, insofar as the thinker is concerned, is determined by his thought. If the thinker's thoughts are good thoughts at all times, how beautiful and good and bright and happy must this world be to him. How important then to each and all is thought, our thought, my thought, your thought, and as a community is but a group of individuals the communal thought is but the aggregated thought of the individuals of that community, and the same with the state and nation. Hence our individual thoughts may be of great moment in circles outside our little community.

No work of modern times has so stirred thought and directed thought to good as has that marvelous book entitled 'Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures' by Mary Baker Eddy. Hundreds of thousands of people all over this broad world of ours have read and are reading it and are living witness, by better thoughts and better lives, to its uplifting influence.

In this book, emphasizing the importance of good thought, she has warned her readers to 'stand porter at the door of thought.' Let no thoughts but good thoughts enter.

That a correct and intelligent idea might prevail regarding Christian Science, of which Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures is the text book there has been insitituted a board of lectureship whose members, thoroughly qualified, at certain points, address the public on that subject. Brainerd has been thus highly favored. We have assembled here this evening to listen to one of those lectures. The honor of introducing the speaker has been conferred upon me. I take pleasure, therefor, in presenting to your thoughtful attention, George Shaw Cook, C. S. B., of Chicago, Ill., a member of the board of lectureship of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, Mass., who will address you upon that very thoughtful subject, "Christian Science."

Mr. Cook said, in part: "Health, according to Christian Science, is not personal. It is universal. It is mental wholeness or completeness. It is spiritual perfection. It is reflected by the individual. It does not originate with him, nor does it belong to one more than to another. It is like the light—impersonal and universal. For one to have it does not prevent all from sharing it.

"Christ Jesus, while understanding the universal nature of good and that man as the son of God is eternally supplied with all good, nevertheless recognized that mankind needs food and raiment. But in pointing the true way the said 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things will be added unto you.' (Matthew vi. 33.) Right thinking brings a sense of abundance today as surely as it did 2,000 years ago. It is well, however, to remember that Jesus did not say to seek first these things, and the kingdom of God would be added.

"Frequently students of the gospels fail to make any distinction between the terms of Christ and Jesus. They often consider these terms as being synonymous. Christ is the spiritual eternal, changeless, universal truth of God, which has been discerned to a greater or less extent in all ages, but which appeared in its perfection as an individual ideal in Christ Jesus. As the one who best understood and most perfectly demonstrated the Christ, Truth in healing sickness and sin, Jesus was the Wayshower and Exemplar for mankind.

"Christian Science teaches its adherents to 'pray without ceasing,' and constantly to seek a higher and better understanding of the true nature of God, and of man as His likeness. Furthermore, it requires the demonstration of this understanding in right thinking and right living. Such thinking results in the lessening of sin and disease. (This is the practical atonement to which Mrs. Eddy refers as 'the exemplification of man's unity with God.' (Science and Health, p. 18.) Christian Scientists believe that in no other way can they realize the full import of what has been mistakenly regarded as the vicarious atonement of Christ Jesus, but which was in fact the perfect demonstration of man's at-onement with God, and this rendering of the word 'atonement' is not used by Mrs. Eddy alone, but is being given by modern scholars as the correct translation."

COL. THORP HONORED

Speaks at Fargo Tri-State Grain Growers Convention on the Conservation of Moisture

A national organization to be known as the New Farming association will be formed to carry out theories and experiments of Col. Freeman Thorp of Hubert, on the complete conservation of moisture.

He spoke before the Tri-State Grain Growers convention at Fargo, N. D., on Thursday evening and made a profound impression by his address on preliminary work, theories and experiments which made it possible for him to grow 100 bushels of corn per acre on sandy soil on his experimental farm near Brainerd.

He will also have a publication called the New Farmer for promulgating his ideas. Many visitors at the convention signified their intention of affiliating with Col. Thorp's new association.

COMES FROM IOWA

W. Inwards and Family Remove from Mitchell County to Eighty Acre Farm Near Flak

Acquiring eighty acres of land near Flak in a trade twelve years ago and never having seen the land is the experience of W. Inwards, of Mitchell county, Iowa.

Today Mr. Inward was in Brainerd and said he had sold out his interests in Iowa and had concluded that Crow Wing county was a good place to settle in. The eighty acre tract is almost virgin soil. It is full of poplar and oak and therefore indicative of the best kind of soil.

With Mr. Inward are his wife and seven children. He has bought a cottage from Charles Varner and the same will soon be moved on the farm. Mr. Inward will proceed to clear off timber and brush and expects to put in a good crop.

"I notice one of my neighbors has a herd of blooded stock, 20 head," said Mr. Inward. "And I see cream separators all around, and silos, and hear talk of good roads and it reminds a man a good deal of Iowa, one of the best farming states in the United States."

Mr. Inward said he had already found a lot of Iowa people, neighbors and others in the vicinity and the general proportion of them were very prosperous.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ills and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better depend on the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Brainerd citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Charles Ellison, 512 S. Quince St., Brainerd, says: "My kidneys were disordered for several years and seemed to be gradually getting worse. I was taken with such awful pains in my back that I had to go to bed. Medicine patched me up somewhat and I got out in a few weeks, but I continued to suffer severely. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at H. P. Dunn's drug store. A few boxes put me in good shape." (Statement given September 1, 1908.)

Over five years later Mr. Ellison said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. The relief they gave me has lasted."

OPPONENTS REPLY TO THE PRESIDENT

Republicans Resent Charge That Parly Has Done Nothing.

TO USE IN NEXT CAMPAIGN.

Indianapolis Address Furnishes Material to Begin 1916 Contest—Senator Borah Charges That Democrats Use Too Much of the Senate's Time—Vice President Marshall Hard to Fool.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—President Wilson certainly started something with his speech at Indianapolis. Many Republicans were not inclined to talk politics until they examined the president's speech with more care. Then they concluded that it was necessary to make replies. These replies will not get the wide circulation which is given to the utterances of a president, but they may be used for Republican purposes when the next campaign begins.

Furnished a Few Handles.

Judging by what has been said by Republican senators and representatives, there is no doubt but what the president furnished handles for his opponents to take hold of, but whether they will be charged with so much electricity that they will be sorry for having grasped them, as Democrats believe, remains to be seen. What sticks in the craw of most Republicans is the assertion of President Wilson that the Republican party has not had a new idea in thirty years. Men who have been in charge of party affairs for ten or fifteen years resent that assertion.

Quoting Wilson Versus Wilson. The president has the disadvantage of having written a book. "Oh, that mine enemy would write a book!" or words to that effect sang one of the ancient worthies. And writers of books have often had their utterances held up to them when they found it necessary to change their views. It was old John Sherman who once remarked that "if a man stays in public life as long as I do he will find it necessary to change his opinions many times." But in spite of the necessity for a change of views the man who has expressed himself in a book is almost sure to have that book quoted against him at some future time.

Must Have a Topic.

Any senator who gets the floor can talk as long as he likes on any conceivable subject, but there must at least be pending some sort of a motion or proposition. The other day Senator Sherman of Illinois introduced a resolution and was talking about it, and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who wanted to stop Sherman, inquired of the vice president as to what was before the senate.

"The senator from Illinois is before the senate," humorously replied Mr. Marshall. Upon further inquiry it was found that there was no real subject before the senate, and for a time Sherman was cut off.

Who Takes the Time?

Senator Borah of Idaho, replying to the charge of a filibuster on the part of Republicans, said that he had figured out that for every hour and three-quarters used by the Republicans the Democrats had used two hours and added, "The other evening we had an executive session for two hours and ten minutes, and not a voice was raised on the Republican side, the entire time being taken by our Democratic friends in saying things about one another they did not dare to say in the open."

And that is one way we find out what happens in executive sessions.

Selecting Forest Reserves.

Occasionally the debate in the senate turns upon conservation and forest reserves. During one of these talks recently Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, who says that he wants to grant the west's wishes in regard to these matters, said, "I have frequently been told and have frequently read that these forest reserves are usually selected by certain gentlemen looking through a car window." He might have said that some of the reserves were selected by men in the departments at Washington drawing lines upon the map.

Marshall Knows.

They cannot fool Vice President Marshall. He knows. Quite recently an important question on the rules came up, and a point of order was raised. Marshall bluntly told the senate that he understood perfectly that they would pay no attention to his ruling and that the senate would decide the question for itself, and he would refer the question to the senate. After an experience of about two years they cannot fool a man of Marshall's intelligence.

Reason For Rejoicing.

"I am glad that we have the election behind us instead of in front of us," remarked one of the prominent Democratic members of the house of representatives. He was referring to the disagreements in the Democratic party and the dissatisfaction that exists in some quarters with the party in power. He was frank to say that he thought an election at this time would be much different from that which was held in November last. But he was hopeful that there would be a change in conditions before another election was held.

NURSES IN THE WAR

What the Women are Doing

The nurses in the war are nursing, cheering and comforting the wounded or dying. The women of Europe not only wrap bandages and scrape lint, but they tend the farms, dig coal, carry burdens and do the work of the men now under arms. Every male fighter, however brawny and heroic, was born of woman; the high courage and hardihood that are a nation's strength are inherited from the mother.

Young mothers who preserve the charms of face and figure in spite of an increasing family and the care of growing children are always to be envied. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the strength and health upon which happy motherhood depends. It practically does away with the pains of maternity. It enables the mother to nourish the infant life depending on her, and enjoy the hourly happiness of watching the development of a perfectly healthy child.

Thousands of women who are now blessed with robust health cannot understand why thousands of other women continue to worry and suffer from ailments peculiar to women when they can obtain for a trifling sum Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which will surely and quickly banish all pain, distress and misery and restore the womanly functions to perfect health.

IMPORTANT SPECIAL OFFER TO READERS OF THIS PAPER

Humanity Was Never Intended
To Be Anything But Well.

Why Are You Sick

Headaches, dizziness, colds, coughs, fever, rheumatism, lack of appetite, indigestion, etc., are all warnings that some part of your body is not doing its share of work.

Through the vertebrae in your spine thousands of nerve fibers pass from the brain to different parts of the body. The nerve impulses—that life essence, which feeds and controls the body, is carried to all organs by this route.

If a vertebrae becomes subluxated (slightly dislocated) by continued strain in any position, falls, sudden jerks of the body, or other causes, it causes a pressure on the nerves leading thru the subluxated vertebrae, thus shutting off the nervous impulses and the nerves cannot perform their functions, which are to keep the body in a perfect healthy condition.

Chiropractic removes the cause of physical ailments, by adjusting all subluxations of the spine and putting the vertebrae in their natural position.

does not originate with him, nor does it belong to one more than to another. It is like the light—impersonal and universal. For one to have it does not prevent all from sharing it.

'Christ Jesus, while understanding the universal nature of good and that man as the son of God is eternally supplied with all good, nevertheless recognized that mankind needs food and raiment. But in pointing the true way the said 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things will be added unto you.' (Matthew vi. 33.) Right thinking brings a sense of abundance today as surely as it did 2,000 years ago. It is well, however, to remember that Jesus did not say to seek first these things, and the kingdom of God would be added.

'Frequently students of the gospels fail to make any distinction between the terms of Christ and Jesus. They often consider these terms as being synonymous. Christ is the spiritual eternal, changeless, universal truth of God, which has been discerned to a greater or less extent in all ages, but which appeared in its perfection as an individual ideal in Christ Jesus. As the one who best understood and most perfectly demonstrated the Christ, Truth in healing sickness and sin, Jesus was the Wayshower and Exemplar for mankind.

'Christian Science teaches its adherents to 'pray without ceasing,' and constantly to seek a higher and better understanding of the true nature of God, and of man as His likeness. Furthermore, it requires the demonstration of this understanding in right thinking and right living. Such thinking results in the lessening of sin and disease. This is the practical atonement to which Mrs. Eddy refers as 'the exemplification of man's unity with God.' (Science and Health, p. 18.) Christian Scientists believe that in no other way can they realize the full import of what has been mistakenly regarded as the vicarious atonement of Christ Jesus, but which was in fact the perfect demonstration of man's at-onement with God, and this rendering of the word 'atonement' is not used by Mrs. Eddy alone, but is being given by modern scholars as the correct translation.

ICE CUTTING STARTS SOON

Brainerd Ice Company to Put Forty Teams and Thirty Men at Work in Middle of Next Week

ARE TO PUT UP 5,000 TONS

Half That Amount Goes Into the South Side Ice House and Balance in N. E. Brainerd

On or about January 27 the Brainerd Ice company will commence its season's cutting of ice, giving employment to forty teams and to thirty men. Ice to the amount of 5,000 tons will be put up.

Of this amount 2,500 tons will be stored in the south side ice house and the balance in the Northeast Brainerd ice house. This gives work to many Brainerd people and means the receipt and circulation of several thousand dollars.

COL. THORP HONORED

Speaks at Fargo Tri-State Grain Growers Convention on the Conservation of Moisture

A national organization to be known as the New Farming association will be formed to carry out theories and experiments of Col. Freeman Thorp of Hubert, on the complete conservation of moisture.

He spoke before the Tri-State Grain Growers convention at Fargo, N. D. on Thursday evening and made a profound impression by his address on preliminary work, theories and experiments which made it possible for him to grow 100 bushels of corn per acre on sandy soil on his experiment farm near Brainerd.

He will also have a publication called the New Farmer for promulgating his ideas. Many visitors at the convention signified their intention of affiliating with Col. Thorp's new association.

COMES FROM IOWA

W. Inwards and Family Remove from Mitchell County to Eighty Acre Farm Near Flak

Acquiring eighty acres of land near Flak in a trade twelve years ago and never having seen the land is the experience of W. Inwards, of Mitchell county, Iowa.

Today Mr. Inward was in Brainerd and said he had sold out his interests in Iowa and had concluded that Crow Wing county was a good place to settle in. The eighty acre tract is almost virgin soil. It is full of poplar and oak and therefore indicative of the best kind of soil.

With Mr. Inward are his wife and seven children. He has bought a cottage from Charles Varner and the same will soon be moved on the farm. Mr. Inward will proceed to clear off timber and brush and expects to put in a good crop.

'I notice one of my neighbors has a herd of blooded stock, 20 head,' said Mr. Inward. 'And I see cream separators all around, and silos, and hear talk of good roads and it reminds a man a good deal of Iowa, one of the best farming states in the United States.'

Mr. Inward said he had already found a lot of Iowa people, neighbors and others in the vicinity and the general proportion of them were very prosperous.

The Record in Brainerd is a Unique One

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ills and is looking for an effective kidney medicine, better depend on the remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills have given great satisfaction in such cases. Brainerd citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

Charles Tillson, 512 S. Quince St., Brainerd, says: "My kidneys were disordered for several years and seemed to be gradually getting worse. I was taken with such awful pains in my back that I had to go to bed. Medicine patched me up somewhat and I got out in a few weeks, but I continued to suffer severely. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at H. P. Dunn's drug store. A few boxes put me in good shape." (Statement given September 1, 1908.)

Over five years later Mr. Tillson said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. The relief they gave me has lasted."

OPPONENTS REPLY TO THE PRESIDENT

Republicans Resent Charge That Party Has Done Nothing.

TO USE IN NEXT CAMPAIGN.

Indianapolis Address Furnishes Material to Begin 1916 Contest—Senator Borah Charges That Democrats Use Too Much of the Senate's Time—Vice President Marshall Hard to Fool.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—President Wilson certainly started something with his speech at Indianapolis. Many Republicans were not inclined to talk politics until they examined the president's speech with more care. Then they concluded that it was necessary to make replies. These replies will not get the wide circulation which is given to the utterances of a president, but they may be used for Republican purposes when the next campaign begins.

Furnished a Few Handles.

Judging by what has been said by Republican senators and representatives, there is no doubt but what the president furnished handles for his opponents to take hold of, but whether they will be charged with so much electricity that they will be sorry for having grasped them, as Democrats believe, remains to be seen. What sticks in the craw of most Republicans is the assertion of President Wilson that the Republican party has not had a new idea in thirty years. Men who have been in charge of party affairs for ten or fifteen years resent that assertion.

Quoting Wilson Versus Wilson.

The president has the disadvantage of having written a book. "Oh, that mine enemy would write a book!" or words to that effect sang one of the ancient worthies. And writers of books have often had their utterances held up to them when they found it necessary to change their views. It was old John Sherman who once remarked that "if a man stays in public life as long as I do he will find it necessary to change his opinions many times." But in spite of the necessity for a change of views the man who has expressed himself in a book is almost sure to have that book quoted against him at some future time.

Must Have a Topic.

Any senator who gets the floor can talk as long as he likes on any conceivable subject, but there must at least be pending some sort of a motion or proposition. The other day Senator Sherman of Illinois introduced a resolution and was talking about it, and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who wanted to stop Sherman, inquired of the vice president as to what was before the senate.

"The senator from Illinois is before the senate," humorously replied Mr. Marshall. Upon further inquiry it was found that there was no real subject before the senate, and for a time Sherman was cut off.

Who Takes the Time?

Senator Borah of Idaho, replying to the charge of a filibuster on the part of Republicans, said that he had figured out that for every hour and three-quarters used by the Republicans the Democrats had used two hours and added, "The other evening we had an executive session for two hours and ten minutes, and not a voice was raised on the Republican side, the entire time being taken by our Democratic friends in saying things about one another they did not dare to say in the open." And that is one way we find out what happens in executive sessions.

Selecting Forest Reserves.

Occasionally the debate in the senate turns upon conservation and forest reserves. During one of these talks recently Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, who says that he wants to grant the west's wishes in regard to these matters, said, "I have frequently been told and have frequently read that these forest reserves are usually selected by certain gentlemen looking through a car window." He might have said that some of the reserves were selected by men in the departments at Washington drawing lines upon the map.

Marshall Knows.

They cannot fool Vice President Marshall. He knows. Quite recently an important question on the rules came up, and a point of order was raised. Marshall bluntly told the senate that he understood perfectly that they would pay no attention to his ruling and that the senate would decide the question for itself, and he would refer the question to the senate. After an experience of about two years they cannot fool a man of Marshall's intelligence.

Reason For Rejoicing.

"I am glad that we have the election behind us instead of in front of us," remarked one of the prominent Democratic members of the house of representatives. He was referring to the disagreements in the Democratic party and the dissatisfaction that exists in some quarters with the party in power. He was frank to say that he thought an election at this time would be much different from that which was held in November last. But he was hopeful that there would be a change in conditions before another election was held.

NURSES IN THE WAR

What the Women are Doing

The nurses in the war are nursing, cheering and comforting the wounded or dying. The women of Europe not only wrap bandages and scrape lint, but they tend the farms, dig coal, carry burdens and do the work of the men now under arms. Every male fighter, however brawny and heroic, was born of woman; the high courage and hardihood that are a nation's strength are inherited from the mother.

Young mothers who preserve the charms of face and figure in spite of an increasing family and the care of growing children are always to be envied. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the strength and health upon which happy motherhood depends. It practically does away with the pains of maternity. It enables the mother to nourish the infant life depending on her, and enjoy the hourly happiness of watching the development of a perfectly healthy child.

Thousands of women who are now blessed with robust health cannot understand why thousands of other women continue to worry and suffer from ailments peculiar to women when they can obtain for a trifling sum Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which will surely and quickly banish all pain, distress and misery and restore the womanly functions to perfect health.

"The Opened Shutters"

"The Opened Shutters" by Clara Louise Burnham, is simply an elaboration of the old theme, "As a Man Thinketh." But in the elaboration of the theme Mrs. Burnham has developed a story of beauty and charm, with remarkable appeal. Wm. Worthington as "Think-right" Johnson, around whom and because of whose "right thoughts" the whole progress of the story is built, has produced a character study which might be considered in the light of benediction. Not once is a hero forced to a duel. Not once is the heroine found struggling in the villain's arms. There is not a fire scene, a boat wreck, a murder, a mystery, a battle scene or anything else that is deemed so essential to the success of a feature picture nowadays to be found in the picture. And yet you will find the incidents, as they logically develop, hold you as in a vise.

Humanity Was Never Intended To Be Anything But Well. Why Are You Sick

Headaches, dizziness, colds, coughs, fever, rheumatism, lack of appetite, indigestion, etc., are all warnings that some part of your body is not doing its share of work.

Through the vertebrae in your spine thousands of nerve fibers, pass from the brain to different parts of the body. The nerve impulses—that life essence, which feeds and controls the body, is carried to all organs by this route.

If a vertebra becomes subluxated (slightly dislocated) by continued strain in any position, falls, sudden jerks of the body, or other causes, it causes a pressure on the nerves leading thru the subluxated vertebrae, thus shutting off the nervous impulses and the nerves cannot perform their functions, which are to keep the body in a perfect healthy condition.

Chiropractic removes the cause of physical ailments, by adjusting all subluxations of the spine and putting the vertebrae in their natural position.

"Will you be quiet?" Mrs. Darnell's eyes blazed in angered resentment. What were the voices saying? Ruth sat up, listened, slipped from the bed and tiptoed to the curtains. "You'll do as I say or"—

"Harry!" "Oh, come, old man. What's the use of all this argument?" and Drake laid his hand on Wilkerson's arm restrainingly. Their eyes met. Wilkerson calmed himself.

"Oh, all right. As you say." And he stepped to Jean and turned her around to him.

Slam! Bang! "Hello, hello!"

With one rush the trio were upon her. Mrs. Darnell seized the affrighted girl and dragged her from the phone. She screamed.

"Stop her yelling! Stop her!" commanded Wilkerson.

"George, for God's sake, do something!"

With her hand over the girl's mouth, Mrs. Darnell held her by sheer strength, while the always cowardly Wilkerson screamed his commands in a louder tone than those of the girl had been.

Her head fell back, and her body became limp.

"She's fainted! Call a taxi at once! We must get her out of this hotel!"

In less than five minutes they were shooting down the elevator. Another quarter minute and Wilkerson, with the unconscious form of the girl in his arms, her face covered by the cape of the maid, was rushing across the lobby, preceded by Drake. Mrs. Darnell stopped at the desk long enough to throw down a twenty dollar bill.

"The girl is sick, and we must hurry her to a hospital!" she managed to gasp.

Before the dumfounded clerk or the amazed guests could stop to act they were out of the hotel and in a taxi.

The house detective sprang from almost out of nowhere and in a second was speeding after the fleeing ones, accompanied by another plain clothes man.

They sighted the first taxi as it rounded the corner of Powell and Eddy streets.

"Keep that car in sight, and catch it if you can!"

The chauffeur made answer with his foot.

As the detectives saw the course the other car was taking they both murmured, "Chinatown!"

Into the realm of the yellow man shot the auto.

Before a doorway Wilkerson stopped. Rap! Pause—rap! Rap! Pause—rap!

A face appeared as the door creaked open, the face of a Chinaman, deeply lined, the almond shaped eyes scarcely visible through the nearly closed lids.

A signal and a whispered word from Wilkerson, and the door widened the opening, and all passed through.

With a whisk it closed.

Around bends and corners and down steps, another bend and another flight of stairs. Then along a long corridor, where scarcely a ray of light was visible. All the time the shuffling feet of the little yellow man could be heard in the advance.

Then a door stopped the procession. Another series of signals. Another long wait. The door opened with a peculiar rumbling sound. They entered a queerly arranged room. At first glance it seemed very small, but as the eye traveled around its walls its strange shape gave one a feeling of fearsome apprehension. It was completely cylindrical.

Wilkerson at a sign from the Chinaman laid Ruth on the floor and a Chinese woman shuffled to her at the beck of the yellow man. Leaving her in the charge of the oriental, the others returned the way they had come.

On the arrival of Dorr in San Francisco he was met by Everett at the ferry, and together they started the search for Ruth. First they began a round of the hotels. Falling to locate her at any of the smaller hotels, first inquiring at the St. Francis, where she was supposed to stop, they arrived at the Manx.

Wearily and sore from his narrow escape of the night before, Dorr was ready to retire to his room, intending to purchase wearing apparel the next day.

Desiring to put some of his personal effects away, he tried to open the dresser drawers and discovered them to be locked. He sent for a key, and to his amazement, on opening one of the drawers he discovered Ruth's papers to the mine.

He made speedy inquiry at the office and from the clerk and the detective learned of the getaway of Mrs. Darnell and her party.

Drake in the interim secured quarters for the quartet, and still leaving Ruth in secure hiding, well guarded by the watchful Wah Sing, a former smuggling partner of Wilkerson in the days of the "opium ring," they walked to the lodging house and settled themselves to await further developments.

WOMAN'S REALM

TO ORGANIZE CHORAL CLUB

Prof. J. A. Winther, Well Known Singer, to Form Club of 50 to 75 Members

ALL SINGERS SHOULD MEET HIM

Has Studio in the Opsahl Block—Very Successful in Fargo and Other Large Cities

Prof. J. A. Winther is the moving spirit in a new activity in Brainerd musical circles and is desirous of organizing a choral club to have from 50 to 75 members.

He is certain that Brainerd, which has so much musical talent shows such appreciation of good music, and of which he heard before he ever came to Brainerd, will take up the idea of a choral club and when organized will present some of the works of the greatest masters of music.

Minneapolis, Spokane, Seattle, Fargo, Chicago, Dubuque, all cities where music flourishes and people develop the musical side of life and artistic atmosphere, all these have choral clubs and Brainerd cannot long remain without such an organization.

Prof. Winther is assured the talent is here. At the Bethlehem Lutheran church on South Seventh street Prof. Winther recently produced a cantata, the first of its kind rendered in the city and all who heard the singers were surprised at the proficiency shown and the fidelity with which the score was interpreted.

All those wishing to become members of the choral club should see Prof. Winther at his studio in the Opsahl block.

BROOK FISH.

Why They Do Not Get Carried Away Out Into Deep Waters.

If you watch a school of minnows in some stream that has a strong and swift current you will see that they always head upstream. The reason is plain. Only by constantly swimming against the current can the brook fish remain a brook fish and not finally be carried out to sea, as the brook empties into a river, and the river empties into the ocean. But we cannot suppose that the brook fish knows that this will happen if it weakly allows the stream to carry it along. The young minnow is born with the instinct to resist the flow of the brook.

The most natural supposition would be that the instinct amounts to a tendency to push against the pressure of the water, but experiments have shown that it is not the sense of touch, but the sense of sight that plays the important part. The instinct of the brook fish is not to swim against the current, but to keep near the same "scenery" on the banks or bottom of the stream.

The experiments that proved this were performed some years ago by Professor E. P. Lyon. He put some little fish into a bottle filled with water and corked the bottle, which he then placed in an aquarium, whose sides had seaweed upon them. When he moved the bottle along by the wall all the fish crowded to the hinder end of the bottle. Of course there was no current in the bottle. The fish were trying to keep alongside that part of the seaweed covered wall that was opposite them before the bottle was moved.

In another experiment the professor reversed the conditions. He made a wooden box with wire netting at each end. Its bottom he covered with sand and its inner sides with seaweed. Then he put the fish into this box and placed it in a stream. As long as the box was kept still the fish headed against the current, but as soon as the box was allowed to float away in the stream the fish inside it swam in any direction. While the box was still the fish, unless they made head against the stream, were carried along past their landmarks on the sides and bottom of the box. But when the box floated along with them they carried their landmarks with them, and so they made no opposition to being swept along by the stream.—Youth's Companion.

Left Handed Men Not Defective. As left handedness is an inherited characteristic, apparently behaving as Mendelian recessive, it is interesting to note the belief of some investigators that it is one of the stigmata of degeneracy, says the Journal of Heredity. Bardeleben is quoted in German periodicals as saying:

"That a few great men, such as Leonardo da Vinci, were left handed does not neutralize the prevalent belief in all ages that left handedness implies a substandard subject. The percentage of left handed recruits is but 6.8; of school children somewhat higher. These figures are very deceptive, however, for of the left handed children who become right handed the percentage is some 20. This, added to the persistently left handed, raises the original percentage of left handed considerably."

After pointing out that the gibbon and orang outang are as a rule right handed and the gorilla and chimpanzee left handed the speaker decided there was no evidence at all that a left handed person was mentally or physically inferior.

INTERNAL CATARRH

"Peruna Has Done Wonders For Me. I Was So Weak."

Mrs. M. P. Curry, P. O. Box 615, Petersburg, Ill., writes: "I have been troubled with internal catarrh since my girlhood, and was sick in bed three months. When I was able to get up I was so weak I could hardly walk. What I ate disagreed with me. I had stomach and liver trouble and my feet and limbs were swollen so I could scarcely drag around."

THE MASTER KEY

By John Fleming Wilson

By special arrangement for this paper a photo-drama corresponding to the installments of "The Master Key" may now be seen at the leading moving picture theaters. By arrangement made with the Universal Film Manufacturing company it is not only possible to read "The Master Key" in this paper, but also afterward to see moving pictures of our story.

COPYRIGHT, 1914, BY JOHN FLEMING WILSON

"Will you be quiet?" Mrs. Darnell's eyes blazed in angered resentment. What were the voices saying? Ruth sat up, listened, slipped from the bed and tiptoed to the curtains. "You'll do as I say or—"

"Harry!"

"Oh, come, old man. What's the use of all this argument?" and Drake laid his hand on Wilkerson's arm restrainingly. Their eyes met. Wilkerson calmed himself.

"Oh, all right. As you say." And he stepped to Jean and turned her around to him.

Siam! Bang!

"Hello, hello!"

With one rush the trio were upon her. Mrs. Darnell seized the frightened girl and dragged her from the phone. She screamed.

"Stop her yelling! Stop her!" commanded Wilkerson.

"George, for God's sake, do something!"

With her hand over the girl's mouth, Mrs. Darnell held her by sheer strength, while the always cowardly Wilkerson screamed his commands in a louder tone than those of the girl had been.

Her head fell back, and her body became limp.

"She's fainted! Call a taxi at once! We must get her out of this hotel!"

In less than five minutes they were shooting down the elevator. Another quarter minute and Wilkerson, with the unconscious form of the girl in his arms, her face covered by the cape of the maid, was rushing across the lobby, preceded by Drake. Mrs. Darnell stopped at the desk long enough to throw down a twenty dollar bill.

"The girl is sick, and we must hurry her to a hospital!" she managed to gasp.

Before the dumfounded clerk or the amazed guests could stop to act they were out of the hotel and in a taxi.

The house detective sprang from almost out of nowhere and in a second was speeding after the fleeing ones, accompanied by another plain clothes man.

They sighted the first taxi as it rounded the corner of Powell and Eddy streets.

"Keep that car in sight, and catch it if you can!"

The chauffeur made answer with his foot.

As the detectives saw the course the other car was taking they both murmured, "Chinatown!"

Into the realm of the yellow man shot the auto.

Before a doorway Wilkerson stopped. Rap! Pause—rap! Rap! Pause—rap!

WOMAN'S REALM

TO ORGANIZE CHORAL CLUB

Prof. J. A. Winther, Well Known Singer, to Form Club of 50 to 75 Members

ALL SINGERS SHOULD MEET HIM

Has Studio in the Opsahl Block—Very Successful in Fargo and Other Large Cities

Prof. J. A. Winther is the moving spirit in a new activity in Brainerd musical circles and is desirous of organizing a choral club to have from 50 to 75 members.

He is certain that Brainerd, which has so much musical talent shows such appreciation of good music, and of which he heard before he ever came to Brainerd, will take up the idea of a choral club and when organized will present some of the works of the greatest masters of music.

Minneapolis, Spokane, Seattle, Fargo, Chicago, Dubuque, all cities where music flourishes and people develop the musical side of life and artistic atmosphere, all these have choral clubs and Brainerd cannot long remain without such an organization.

Prof. Winther is assured the talent is here. At the Bethlehem Lutheran church on South Seventh street Prof. Winther recently produced a cantata, the first of its kind rendered in the city and all who heard the singers were surprised at the proficiency shown and the fidelity with which the score was interpreted.

All those wishing to become members of the choral club should see Prof. Winther at his studio in the Opsahl block.

Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25c of any druggist and have it in the house—against colds, sore and swollen joints, lumbago, sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give almost instant relief. Buy a bottle today.—Advt.

BROOK FISH.

Why They Do Not Get Carried Away Out Into Deep Waters.

If you watch a school of minnows in some stream that has a strong and swift current you will see that they always head upstream. The reason is plain. Only by constantly swimming against the current can the brook fish remain a brook fish and not finally be carried out to sea, as the brook empties into a river, and the river empties into the ocean. But we cannot suppose that the brook fish knows that this will happen if it weakly allows the stream to carry it along. The young minnow is born with the instinct to resist the flow of the brook.

The most natural supposition would be that the instinct amounts to a tendency to push against the pressure of the water, but experiments have shown that it is not the sense of touch, but the sense of sight that plays the important part. The instinct of the brook fish is not to swim against the current, but to keep near the same "scenery" on the banks or bottom of the stream.

The experiments that proved this were performed some years ago by Professor E. P. Lyon. He put some little fish into a bottle filled with water and corked the bottle, which he then placed in an aquarium, whose sides had seaweed upon them. When he moved the bottle along by the wall all the fish crowded to the hinder end of the bottle. Of course there was no current in the bottle. The fish were trying to keep alongside that part of the seaweed covered wall that was opposite them before the bottle was moved.

In another experiment the professor reversed the conditions. He made a wooden box with wire netting at each end. Its bottom he covered with sand and its inner sides with seaweed. Then he put the fish into this box and placed it in a stream. As long as the box was kept still the fish headed against the current, but as soon as the box was allowed to float away in any direction. While the box was still the fish, unless they made head against the stream, were carried along past their landmarks on the sides and bottom of the box. But when the box floated along with them they carried their landmarks with them, and so they made no opposition to being swept along by the stream.—Youth's Companion.
